

Migration News and Updates

Deja vu all over again:

The three Win7/8.1 updates have returned and brought the warmed-over KB 3138612 and 3138615 Windows Update patches with them

Woody Leonard, in his "Woody on Windows" blog for InfoWorld, wrote this on March 2, 2016:

"Yesterday, Microsoft re-re-released three patches -- KB 2952664, KB 2976978 and KB 2977759 -- all of which offer "compatibility" updates for those of you hell-bent on upgrading from Windows 7 or 8.1 to Windows 10 via Windows Update.

We also received two new patches -- KB 3138612 and KB 3138615 -- that update Windows Update by replacing their tired, old counterparts..."

Microsoft updates Office 365 with six new Excel Functions

Microsoft made several new updates to Office 365 in February, including the addition of six useful functions for Excel

"When it comes to general updates to Microsoft Office 365, February 2016 was a fairly significant month. Microsoft rolled out numerous improvements to Office 365, like better pen annotation integration, the ability to pin documents to the Start menu, a new feature that allows images to be inserted into documents directly from the camera, and my favorite—adding more functions to Excel..."
